

Underwear day

Souix

August 4, 2005

Under Where? There really is a day for everything. Wednesday, you can celebrate wearing nothing but the skivvies during National Underwear Day.

Coordinated and promoted by Freshpair.com, a Web site all about undergarments, the day will involve models prancing around New York City in their undies while polling people about underwear habits.

We here at Link don't recommend you dance around Sioux Falls in your undies. But, if you want to participate in this "day," visit www.nationalunderwearday.com.